

COMMERCIAL CHICKEN/STRAIN/ HYBRID

Cobb 500 Broiler

Ross Broiler

Shaver Starbro

Arbor Acres

Broiler:

Young chicken of either sex (usually 6 weeks even less than that) having rapid growth, tender meated, Smooth textured skin, flexible breast bone cartilage, feed efficiency 1.6 : 1 and even less. They can not transmit traits to their offspring uniformly and are not used for breeding purpose. They are used extensively in the commercial poultry farm to produce meat.

Broilers are available in the market at different commercial name. The examples of the strains are:

- 1. Lomen meat
- 2. Shaver Starbo
- 3. ISA-MPK-30
- 4. Kasila Hub Chicks
- 5. Hubbard Classic
- 6. ISA Vadat
- 7. Ross Broiler
- 8. Cobb 500
- 9. Bab Cob
- 10. Van cob
- 11. Tropicbro
- 12. Hybro Hisex G.
- 13. Arbor Acres etc.

Hybrid Layer

ISA Brown

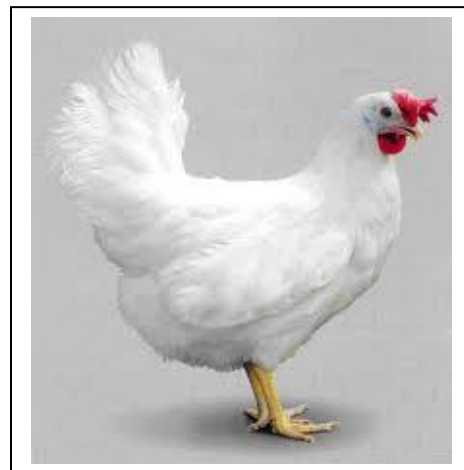

Hisex Brown

Layer:

They are reared for table eggs. Average egg production of commercial layer is 275-300 eggs/year. The FCR of layer is 1.8(kg):1(dozen), i.e 150g feed require to produce an egg. They are also a hybrid chicken. They are not able to transmit its traits to their offspring uniformly. In different commercial name they are found in the market. They are not used for breeding purpose. They are used extensively in the commercial layer farm to produce eggs.

Available strains are:

1. Hisex Brown
2. Lomen Brown
3. Hisex White
4. ISA-Brown
5. Shaver Starcross 579
Brown
6. Hiline
7. Shaver White
8. BV-300 White etc.

Hisex White